

MINOR FIELD: PSYCHOLOGY

DEPARTMENT: Psychology

TOTAL NUMBER OF CREDITS: 18

RATIONALE:

The ability to understand people and to interact with them effectively is crucial to one's success in any field. The Psychology Minor permits a student to select a cluster of courses that best meet her/his needs. Some students may choose to focus on human growth and interpersonal relationships. Such a focus would complement any major but particularly Sociology, Business, English, or Foreign Languages. Other students may wish to pursue the more quantitative and experimental aspects of Psychology. This emphasis may be of special interest to students with natural science majors.

REQUIREMENTS:

PSY 101 Foundations of Psychology

Under guidance from her/his advisor, the student will design a cluster of PSY 101 and 5 additional courses that will best fit her/his interests and career goals. Courses may be selected from the following:

PSY 206	Cross-Cultural Psychology
PSY 208	Statistics
PSY 217	Career Planning
PSY 219	Applied Psychology
