The Department of Music is proud of a history that dates from 1921, the beginning days of Immaculata College. The institution has awarded music degrees since 1927. Through the years the department has built on the strength of well-prepared, dedicated faculty, and gifted students, adding new majors and minors as well as graduate programs.

The music programs at Immaculata derive their inspiration from the tradition of music education and service of the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary and dedicated lay faculty. In this tradition, the music department believes that music offerings and events enhance the aesthetic and cultural ambience of the campus.

Thus, the philosophy of each major and minor offering is based on the comprehension of music as a cultural and educational force, a healing agent, and a transforming spiritual and societal influence. Music education gives life and adds harmony wherever it exists on and off campus. In addition, music brings healing and inspiration; music in the service of humankind remains the core of music therapy programs. This philosophy is validated through faculty commitment to the creative, artistic, and disciplined development of students.

The Department of Music is an accredited member of the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM) and the American Music Therapy Association (AMTA). The music unit upholds the rigors of an integrated liberal arts program with the professional excellence of the highest standards of musicianship, artistic performance, and in educational and clinical training programs.
